Mikolay and Julia live in the same neighbourhood and attend school together on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Every other weekend, they attend a special Magical Weekend School for children with magical abilities. Julia really likes school. She is one of the top students. But Mikolay, unlike Julia, wouldn't mind at all if there weren't as many Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays! He doesn't mind the weekend school because he is allowed to do lots of magic, which he really likes and is very good at.

When Mikolay and Julia are not at school, they usually go exploring and adventuring.

Mikolay's and Julia's mummies are both witches and are in charge of fixing things.

Mikolay and Julia don't quite know what the job involves but it must be hard because both mummies don't spend much time at home, which gives Mikolay and Julia plenty of opportunities to explore.

"Mikolay can we go now?" asked Julia "You know that the attic is not my favourite place at all!"

"I'm trying to find a wand for you," muttered Mikolay while going through yet another old box.

"Really? My own wand?" cried Julia clapping her hands with delight. Mikolay had explored the big attic many times before, and he knew that his mummy misplaced boxes all the time. He was moving between some big boxes, when suddenly, he saw a startling shadow on the wall.

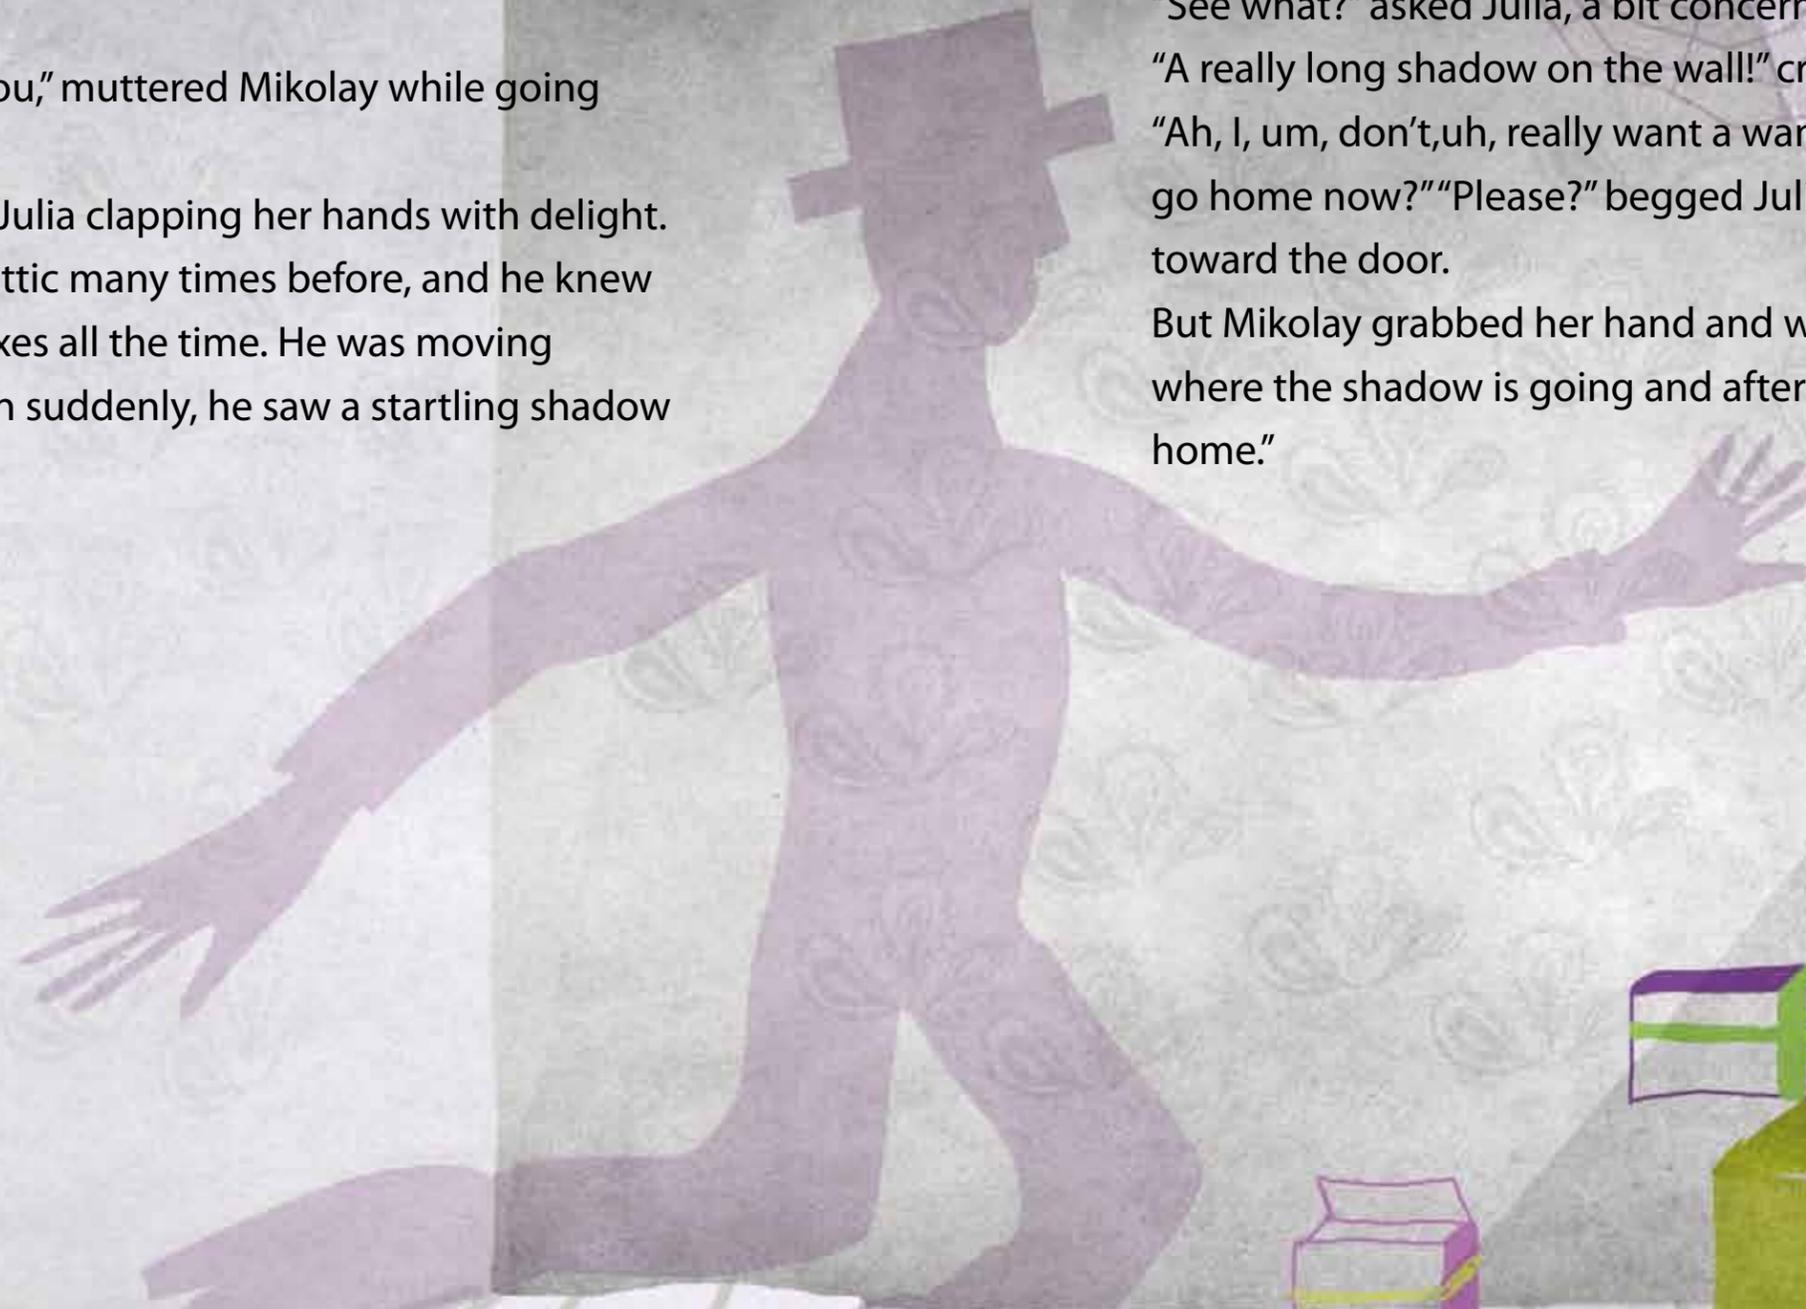

"Did you see that?" gasped Mikolay, pointing directly towards the wall.

"See what?" asked Julia, a bit concerned.

"A really long shadow on the wall!" cried Mikolay.

"Ah, I, um, don't,uh, really want a wand, um, that much. Can we go home now?" "Please?" begged Julia as she moved nervously toward the door.

But Mikolay grabbed her hand and whispered: "Let's just see where the shadow is going and after that, we can go right home."

Mikolay and Julia carefully moved closer and closer to the wall. Suddenly, the shadow disappeared through the wall!

Poof! Julia appeared right next to Mikolay, and instantly knew that she did not like this place one little bit.

Mikolay, without thinking too much, went after the shadow, then his body disappeared too!

"Uh oh and I promised mummy I'd be good this week." Julia muttered to herself while following Mikolay through the wall.

"Mikolay!" she yelled. "Look at those cages. They are just everywhere!" cried Julia.

"Can you see the shadow anywhere?" Mikolay questioned.

"Maybe the shadow disappeared again. Can we please go back home now? I really don't like it here and I'm scared!" Julia pleaded.
